

DIRECTORY AMUSING AS WELL AS USEFUL

Columbian Druggists Are

Kings, Citizens Manly.

PLENTY OF BANKS
City Should Be Beautiful—
Only One Weed—Roses
and Lillys Flourish.

A city directory is not merely a monotonous compilation of names, but, contrary to general opinion, is full of life, color and variety. For instance, from it may be learned that Columbia has citizens who are Long, Short, Spry and Gay; Moody, Haggard, Grim and Gray; Little, Young, Smart and Keen; Hale, Stout, Old and Green.

A directory is not a newspaper, though it may contain news. If there is anything in a name the winner in the presidential race may be predicted here with a great deal of certainty, for the directory announces Cox 2; Harding 3.

Courtesy and politeness, characteristic of all true Columbians, is emphasized by the fact that her druggists are knights, her policemen kings and her citizens manly.

Columbians are characteristic, although 'tis true, they have the poor, and to care for them they have no gold; yet silver they have and jewels rare. Banks within banks and have been without the price.

Tribute to Schools.
As a tribute to the school there is found to be a Brightman, a Goodman, and men named Broadhead and Armstrong. Also her shoemakers are writers of history.

immediately object and general nature of which is to obtain a decree of divorce from the defendant on the grounds of desertion.

It is further ordered that the said defendant be and appear in this court on the first day of the next regular term of this court to be held at the Court House in the City of Columbia, Boone

County, Missouri, on Monday, October 12th,

1920, to answer or plead to said petition, or in default thereof said petition will be taken as confessed, and judgment rendered against him in accordance with the prayer of plaintiff's petition.

It is further ordered that a copy hereof be duly published at least once a week for four weeks successively in the Evening

Missourian, a daily newspaper printed, published and circulated in said Boone

County, and designated by plaintiff's attorney as most likely to give notice to said defendant; the last insertion of said order of publication in said newspaper to be at least fifteen days before the first day of said next term of said court.

Columbians may well feel fairly assured of protection from foes within and foes without for living here are Sergeant Marshalls and Majors.
There is on reason for the spiritual welfare of the people suffering from neglect, for in addition to the ministers regularly occupying the pulpits there are ten Parsons who have never preached in public.

Former President Represented.

Washington, Adams, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Harrison, Taylor, Pierce, Johnson Grant Hayes Arthur Cleveland and Wilson are not only names comprising a partly tabulated list of Presidents; but names of citizens living here in Columbia who might have been presidents had they cared to.

It may be gratifying to those who have labored long and arduously to make Columbia a more beautiful city in which to live to discover that there is only one Weed in the city but the Lilly and the Rose flourish.

Smiths Gain Another Victory.

True to tradition, the Smiths, one hundred in number, lead all the rest.
Those bearing the name of Williams, eighty-one in number, come second;
the Browns in number, seventy-six are third, and the poor Jones family has been forced to take fourth rank, having only sixty-three representatives.
There are fifty-nine Millers and fifty-eight Turners.

No name beginning with X appears in the directory, and only two with Q—Quarles and Quinn. S is the most frequently found for it happens 675 times. All the way from A to Z—from Abbott to Zumwalt may be found much that is instructive, entertaining and amusing.

HAIR IS COMING FROM BOHEMIA

Americans Get Products for Coiffure at High Price.

Women generally get their coiffure from a distant land—Bohemia. Before the war America was a commercial vassal of France and Germany in this industry, when a kilo (2.2 pounds) used to cost only from 50 to 60 crowns (one crown equal 23 cents U. S. money), but now American ladies are preferring for their personal use the products of Bohemian hands.

According to the latest government statistics of this hair industry, Bohemia has raised the high cost of human hair and human nets to almost 1,000 crowns per kilo. The demand for this article has exceeded its output so that in many districts of this new republic, men, women, old folks, and children are working overtime to supply the American beauty parlors and their thousands of customers. It is reported that the leading firms are employing over 50,000 people at their homes in making human hair. Their value in 1910 from Bohemia alone amounted to $416,169.

ARE MANY NEW STYLES IN THE FALL FASHIONS

The fall fashions have arrived! There are many new styles and many new materials for frocks for every conceivable occasion. It would be impossible to name them all, but some of the newest and most popular may be mentioned.

For evening wear or any other kind of wear, dull colors are by far the newest thing for followers of fashion to adapt. Lovely frocks in shades of rust, copper, black, turquoise, ruby, sapphire and chartruse will be most popular. If possible, they should be in the soft and lovely tridescant radium silk, or Argonne Genuine Pussy Willow silk. This does not mean that all of the older silks have seen their last days. Crepe de chine, satin and charmeuse display every sign of remaining a while longer.

Skirts and sleeves have taken a new notion and will be farther apart than ever, skirts being a little longer and sleeves being much shorter. It begins to seem that they will never come within speaking distance again. How wretched one's best party dress would feel not to find itself of scanty dimensions—a waist line dropped below the waist line and a neck cut low when the other dresses at the party were all in accord.

For early autumn, street dresses are to be of velvet and duvetyne. Later they will appear along with suits in materials with fascinating names and durable qualities. The mixtures of woollens will be woolvelvet, chamostyne, swan silk kashavelle, velovine, suedeine, imperial velour, scotch tweeds and jayvenesque. These are only a few from which one may choose.

To top off the autumn street costume, a "hat appropriate" is a necessity. It should be big and black and velvet. It should be of duvetyne, faille or felt.

Shoes for fall will continue to have a French tendency. Straps across the instep are always present. Toes a little round and heels not very high and not low will be seen most. They are satin, suede and kid.

If a pair of three-quarter gloves in colour contrasting with one's suit and a new beaded boulevard bag is made the final touch for, what more can we ask?

In a week or two, when the fall fashions appear in all their bewildering profusion from all parts of the United States and abroad, one may see again the rather tight skirts of a few seasons ago, joined in a harmonious union with scanty waists, dropped waist lines, deep-cut necks, short sleeves, long skirts, and enormous hats. Stunning bags and swagger sticks will be much in evidence and add a military touch to costumes for the street.

REDS HAVE THEIR "HARRIMAN"

Russian Railroads Are Being Built Along American Lines.

By CARL D. GROOT

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

BERLIN, June 28. (by mail).—The Harriman of Russia is a former American. His name is Benjamin M. Sverdloff. He is a railway engineering expert, and a good one, according to Dr. L. Haden Guest, secretary of the British Labor Commission to Russia.

Guest, who says that the soviet system is "westernizing Russia along American trust lines," holds Sverdloff to be a railroad trust chieftain and organizer of the first water—leader of one of several big "trusts" being developed under the soviet regime. In an interview, Guest, en route home from Russia, said:

"Sverdloff is an able, liberal minded man. Nominally Trotsky has control of the railway system of Russia, but actually Sverdloff is the controller. Trotsky is the military commander. The world may regard him as a literary dreamer; but he has shaken off that shell, and is a real military commander.

Sverdloff, according to Guest, typifies the spirit behind the ruling class—and he calls it ruling class despite the alleged proletarian character of the regime. He is western in his thoughts and methods. And there are plenty of others who are dragging Russia out of the rut of the past at least in the matter of thought and organization, says the doctor.
